Sarah Rogers graduates from the WBA School of Bank Management

Sarah Rogers, Branch Manager/Retail Lending Officer recently received her successful completion from the Wisconsin Bankers Association (WBA) School of Bank Management. The program is an intensive, weeklong school designed to provide bankers with a strong foundation of different functional areas of the bank and overall bank management. This unique curriculum emphasizes an enhanced understanding of banking as a business, increased analytical skills and management techniques, an opportunity to provide better customer service to internal and external bank customers through expanded knowledge and ability, an awareness of the changing banking environment and a leadership self-assessment to find opportunities for growth and improvement.

Sarah has been with Mound City Bank for 20 years and believes the best thing about working at Mound City Bank is the support to continue her education and personal development to better herself in the financial industry.
