

Proud to be here for you

MOUND CITY BANK

For Immediate Release: 02/22/2022

Contact: Barb Skaife, Marketing Officer, (608)348-2685

UW-Platteville Student Awarded Agricultural Banking Scholarship

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. – The Wisconsin Bankers Foundation has awarded a UW-Platteville student from Milton, Wis. with the 2021 Agricultural Banking Scholarship. The scholarship is given to two students who plan to go into a career in agriculture finance and who demonstrate in their application a strong understanding of the importance of financial literacy.

Alexis Boston, a Mound City Bank Ag Intern, is a declared agribusiness major expected to graduate this December. Boston has worked as an agribusiness professor assistant at UW-Platteville and currently is involved in many on-campus and community organizations including UW-Platteville's Agribusiness Club, the Collegiate Farm Bureau, and the National Agri-Marketing Association.

"Alexis's passion for agricultural finance and making an impact on her community is foundational to the qualifications for the Foundation's Agricultural Banking Scholarship," said Foundation Chair Rose Oswald Poels. "I am pleased that we are able to honor Alexis's achievements with this scholarship and wish her much success in her future agribusiness career."

Image caption: Alexis Boston (center) accepts 2021 Agricultural Banking Scholarship from WBF Chair Rose Oswald Poels (far left). Also pictured are: Nicholas Felder, vice president – commercial/ag banking at MidWestOne Bank (second from left); Chad Bahr, assistant vice president – agribusiness lending officer at Mound City Bank (second from right); and Donna Hoppenjan, president and CEO of Mound City Bank (far right).

###

